

PATRONAL FESTIVAL . . . Vicar of St. Giles', Lincoln, Rev. V. I. Dalby (left) greets the Vicar of St. Johns', Ermine, Lincoln, Rev. John Hodgkinson, at the gate of St. Giles' Parish Church after Rev. Hodgkinson had walked with members of his choir and congregation from St. Johns' to attend St. Giles' Day Patronal Festival.

A Family Gathering

These photographs were taken on Sunday, September 13th, when the Bishop of Lincoln celebrated and preached at the Family Communion at St. John the Baptist at 9-15 a.m.

The Church turned out in full force, and with extra chairs put out, there was scarcely a vacant seat. After the service, the Bishop chatted informally with the people as they flowed out of church, and the centre photograph was taken of the Bishop with the three Diocesan Readers of the parish, Mr. B. Parsons, Mr. E. Daines and Mr. S. Appleby. Mr. Parsons had been a Server during the Communion and was not therefore wearing the Reader's band and badge of office.

SEPTEMBER 1959