JONES — HANDS IN POCKETS — GIVES NIGHT OUT ALIBI

INJURY TO QUEEN MOTHER

QUEEN Elizabeth the Queen Mother has cracked a small bone in her foot and will have to cancel her official engagements for a few weeks. This was announced from Clarence House, her London home, today.

The Press Association court correspondent writes: The Queen Mother injured her foot on Monday at Windsor Castle, where she is staying with other members of the Royal Family, as the guest of the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh for the Royal Ascot meeting.

She had to cancel her attendance at the Royal meeting yesterday and will not be attending any of the remaining days.

Man Had 8 Operations —Doctor

A JURY at a Newark inquest yesterday returned a verdict of accidental death on a cyclist, Frank Beville (45), of Franklin House, Elm-avenue, Newark, who died on Thursday from injuries received in an accident with a lorry on London-road, Newark, on August 12, 1960.

The Newark District Coroner, Mr. C. A. Mack, was told by Dr. W. H. Valentine, who carried out a post mortem examination, that from the time of the accident until his death Beville was operated on eight times.

He would have died within 48 hours of the accident had it not been for the first operation, said Dr. Valentine.

The lorry driver, Rex Weston, of Jefford-street, Mansfield, said: "I braked hard but caught him with the front bumper and then he was trapped under the back wheel of the lorry."

Third Man Dies

MR. JACK WILSON, 56-years-old pumping station supervisor, of Milgrave-road, Middlesbrough, who was rescued from a sewer on the town's discharge main, died of pneumonia yesterday.

"I Didn't Kill Brenda, She Was Not In My Car"

ARTHUR ALBERT JONES went into the witness box at the Old Bailey today and described how he spent the evening in London's West End at the time he is alleged to have murdered Brenda Nash on the Surrey-Hampshire border.

Jones, 44-years-old fitter-welder, of Ely-road, Hounslow, Middlesex, was the first witness for the defence. The prosecution had concluded their case after recalling Ian James Roberts, who yesterday said that Jones had confessed to him in hospital that he killed Brenda Nash.

Mr. Norman Brodrick, Q.C., Jones's counsel, said he would also be calling Mrs. Jones, their son Martyn, and two experts to deal with the questions of Vauxhall cars and fibres.

Jones took the oath quietly and answered his counsel's questions with both hands in his trousers pockets, usually prefixing his replies with, "Well . . ."

He told how he got home from work just after 4.30 p.m., changed into his dark blue blazer and dark grey flannels, and left home about 8.30 p.m. After drinking in a public house he drove his Vauxhall car to Piccadilly.

He described how he went to a Chinese restaurant, picked up a girl outside Lancaster Gate station and had intercourse with her in his car. On the way back he had engine trouble and arrived home about 2 a.m.

WIFE'S QUESTION

Jones said that when his wife showed him a Sunday newspaper featuring the disappearance of Brenda Nash, it was the first time he had seen anything about it. She asked him: "Do you know anything about it?"

"No, I don't know anything about it," he replied.

His wife continued to ask him questions about his movements, and after an interval he told her he had been to Piccadilly and admitted he had been with a prostitute.

As the days went by he was asked about what was known of the car.

This is a preliminary model of the proposed St. John's Church, Ermine Estate, Lincoln, designed by Mr. Sam Scorer, the Lincoln architect. The all-concrete roof will have no internal pillars. The external struts shown in the picture here will be filled in with bricks and glass. (See Page 5).

Shouts Over RSPCA Move On Hunting

HECKLING broke out within a few minutes at the R.S.P.C.A.'s annual meeting in London today when a member suggested it should be called off.

The chairman, Lt. Colonel J. C. Lockwood, had difficulty in making himself heard above the uproar.

Catechisms from the back of the hall mingled with cries of "Hear, hear" when a member, Mr. Raymond Rowley, of Moss-well Hill, London, N., was asked to propose a resolution.

Mr. Rowley said: "In view of the fact that young birds have been found indiscriminately, this meeting should be called off."

"Don't interrupt me," retorted Colonel Lockwood, who was about to move the adoption of the annual report.

Mr. Rowley, a member of the executive committee, said:

experience and knowledge" of hunting and the alternative methods of control.

Carried

The resolution was carried, to be greeted with cries of "Shame."

After further interruptions and further calls to order by the chairman, a member in the gallery got up to say: "The meeting should be called off."

The chairman said: "The meeting should be called off."

12,000 VISITED SHOW HOUSE

THE Solid Fuel Show House on the Fosse Estate, North Hykeham, attracted more than 12,000 visitors between May 12 and June 4.

The North Midland Region of the Coal Utilisation Council, which sponsored the project, report that it was one of the most successful exhibitions in the country.

Pierced Effigy Charge Is Off

TWO summonses against Charles Cardell, psychologist, of Dumblecott, Stanhill, Charlwood, Surrey, in one of which he was alleged to have sent to a former employee an effigy pierced by a needle, were dismissed at Reigate today.

The summonses were issued by Raymond Bertie James Howard, formerly of Bicketts Wood Cottage, Norwood-hill, Charlwood, Surrey, and now living in Norfolk.

One summons accused Cardell of "unlawfully sending on January 10 an effigy of Raymond Bertie James Howard, pierced by a needle, and a mirror to Raymond Bertie James Howard, thereby intimating to him that you had laid a curse on him."

When the case was called Mr. G. J. Whale, solicitor for Mr. Howard, said that as his client had moved from the defendant, he had been instructed to withdraw the summonses.

Mr. Anthony McCowan, counsel for Cardell, asked the justices to dismiss the summonses. He would ask the court to make an order for substantial costs.

"So far as my client is concerned he utterly denies doing either of the things alleged against him," Mr. McCowan said.

"The effigy was the only one that he sent and it was pierced through with a needle and a mirror," Mr. Howard said, by intimating that he laid a curse on him."

Mr. McCowan said that if Mr. Howard was the kind of man who was frightened by such things, he could not understand why he should feel obliged to sue Mr. Cardell.

Lincoln Prison Men Are Caught

THE two prisoners who escaped from Lincoln Gaol yesterday morning were this afternoon recaptured in the Market Rasen area.

They had been free 16 hours, and an intensive search had been going on.

The two men were Jack Dennis McVitie (alias Darling) and Frederick Weike (also known as Weekes).

Details of the capture were not immediately available.

"BOOKIE" FINED FOR SPEEDING

A LINCOLN bookmaker, Jack Marland (41), of 8 Aylesby-close, was fined £4 by Lincoln magistrates for exceeding the 30 m.p.h. speed limit in Loughton-way for the type of vehicle he was driving—a motor van.

He wrote pleading guilty.

Also fined £4, for exceeding the 30 m.p.h. limit in the built-up area of Newark-road, were William Michael Shiffeld (20), boxing promoter, of 6 Reglan-street, Alfreton, Derbyshire, and Ronald Hurlston Baldwin (47), grocer, of 5 St. Aiden's-road, North Hykeham.

They both pleaded guilty by letter.

TRIAL ON DOUBLE MURDER CHARGE

Henry Thomas (48), of Lawland, Mansfield, and Ashford (Ken) was at Southport, near Hythe, yesterday when he was charged with the double murder of Mrs. Alice Baines (28), who lived at Southport, and Mrs. Alice Baines (28), who lived at Southport, and Mrs. Alice Baines (28), who lived at Southport.

...examination, that from the time of the accident until his death Beyll was operated on eight times.

He would have died within 48 hours of the accident had it not been for the first operation, said Dr. Valentine.

The lorry driver, Rex Weston, of Jefford-street, Mansfield, said, "I braked hard but caught him with the front bumper and then he was trapped under the back wheel of the lorry."

Third Man Dies

MR. JACK WILSON, 36-year-old pumping station supervisor, of Millgrays-road, Middlesbrough, who was rescued from a sewer on the town's docks yesterday, died today.

Two other men died within a couple of hours of being pulled unconscious by Bremen from the sewer.

CAUGHT AS SHE LEAPT FROM 60ft.

THE bar manager of the Top Storey Club told the Coroner at Bolton today that, after escaping from the building when it caught fire on May 1, he caught his sister-in-law in his arms after she had jumped 60 feet.

The witness, William Henry Bohannon (32), of Kentmere-road, Bolton, was giving evidence at the resumed inquest on the 19 people who died.

Yesterday, the Coroner, Mr. John Liptrot, and a jury of nine men, heard Mr. Stanley Wilcock (28), former owner of the club, say that they might

Wish Comes True

MRS. FRANCES SKEFFINGTON, a 39-year-old Irishwoman, who is seriously ill, will have her wish fulfilled when she leaves Flint, Michigan, today to fly to County Tipperary and see her baby daughter and her parents.

Mrs. Skeffington and her son, John (four), will fly to Shannon Airport non-stop from Detroit, thanks to the generosity of friends and neighbours in Flint, who raised £175 to pay their fares.

SAW HIS BUS GO UP IN FLAMES

LINCOLNSHIRE Road Car Company driver, Mr. Russell Robinson, of Handley-street, Skeaford, was in a telephone box at Skeaford last night when he saw his 80-seater double-decker bus burst into flames.

A rear tyre burst as the bus was travelling down East-road from Lincoln, and Mr. Robinson intended phoning his depot. But when he saw flames shooting 30 feet into the air, he rang the fire brigade instead.

Friction is thought to have caused the fire and after sending for help Mr. Robinson and his conductor, Mr. Pat Cunn, of Billingborough, used four extinguishers on the flames.

The dozen or so passengers had already decided to walk the half-mile to the town centre, and many did not know that the sounding of the fire siren was because their bus was on fire.

MURDER APPEAL APPLICATION

An application by Zaida Pentokoi (31), owner of Woodlawn-lane, Leeds, who is under sentence of death, for leave to appeal to the House of Lords against his conviction of capital murder, was dismissed by the Court of Criminal Appeal today.

not have died if a door behind the bar could have been opened.

He said he had never applied for permission to use the premises as a club.

Mr. Bohannon said today that he was on the river bank alongside the building. "I saw a white object coming down and when I woke up my sister-in-law, Gillian Grimshaw, was in my arms. I must have caught her."

Still Alive

He said a few minutes afterwards he pulled Gillian to the side of the bank out of the way.

"Then a man came down. He landed on his feet in the river. His head and shoulders were immersed, so I pulled him clear and turned him over. He was still alive then."

"There were two loud splashes, indicating two more people had jumped. I dived into the river and carried those two out. I don't know who they were, but I held them against the current until the police took them from me."

Ten Days On Raft

TWO half-delicious brothers were rescued 91 miles offshore in the Gulf of Mexico yesterday, after living on a raft for 10 days on a flying fish and two cups of rain water.

The brothers, Dr. L. M. Richards (28), optician, and Mr. Eric Richards (30), crash-landed their light aircraft in the sea when it developed engine trouble and caught fire.

WIFE'S QUESTION

Jones said that when his wife showed him a Sunday newspaper featuring the disappearance of Brenda Nash, it was the first time he had seen anything about it. She asked him: "Do you know anything about it?"

His wife continued to ask him questions about his movements, and after an interval he told her he had been to Piccadilly and admitted he had been with a prostitute.

As the days went by he was teased about what was being said in the Press. He took "quite a hit" of leg-pulling about it from his workmates.

HECKLING broke out within a few minutes at the R.S.P.C.A.'s annual meeting in London today when a member suggested

The chairman, Lt-Colonel J. C. Lockwood, had difficulty in making himself heard above the uproar.

Catcalls from the back of the hall mingled with cries of "Hear, hear," when a member, Mr. Raymond Rowley, of Millwell Hill, London, N., was asked to make a speech.

The chairman said: "In view of the fact that votes were being issued indiscriminately, this meeting should be called off."

"Don't interrupt me," retorted Colonel Lockwood, who was about to move the adoption of the annual report.

Mr. Rowley, a member of the executive committee of the League Against Cruel Sports, insisted that his complaint should be investigated.

"WORRIED"

When Mr. Brodrick asked, "Did you begin to get worried?" Jones replied, "Yes, I did, because I had a black Vauxhall car and because the description given by the Press would generally fit me, I suppose."

"At that time I knew I could not substantiate where I had been."

He said he decided the best thing he could do was to have somebody to corroborate his movements — "in fact, to put up an alibi."

Jones, asked by his counsel: "Did you kill Brenda Nash?" replied firmly: "No, sir."

Asked: "Was Brenda Nash in your car on October 22?" he again replied, "No, sir."

A DENIAL

When Mr. Brodrick asked: "Did you ever say to Roberts, 'I did it,' or 'I done it'?" Jones in a firm voice, replied: "No, sir."

Before beginning his cross-examination, Mr. Mervyn Griffith-Jones, prosecuting, asked to raise a matter in the absence of the jury.

Mr. Justice Sachs agreed, and the jury then left.

Ridiculous

The chairman: "I am not having this meeting interrupted by ridiculous points in order. If you like to shout I will shout louder still. But I am going to move this report."

There were cries of: "This is not a democratic meeting." After 10 minutes the noise subsided and he was able to continue.

Colonel Lockwood said that one of the greatest problems the society had faced during the past year was the "terrible question" of homeless animals.

"I would like to repeat our complete hostility to the way in which these animals are being treated."

Experiments

Another grave concern was the fact that 3,500,000 experiments on animals had been made in 19 months.

The annual report states that R.S.P.C.A. inspectors investigated 25,583 complaints of cruelty to animals during the year, leading to 762 convictions, 238 admonitions and 1,473 verbal cautions.

The report also says: "So one should be indited by specious allegations that the society 'condones' foxhunting. It does not. The policy statement makes it quite clear that the society is opposed to the hunting of any creature for the purpose of sport and does appreciate the importance of the ethical considerations involved."

"The society has, on several occasions, instigated and supported Parliamentary Bills designed to abolish the hunting with hounds of wild deer."

"Reluctantly, however, it has to admit that it has yet to find a satisfactory humane method of controlling the number of foxes."

"Postal Vote"

There was more shouting when Dr. R. F. Ratray proposed a motion for a new rule to be included in the society's constitution.

It would give the council power, among other things, to refuse to convene an extraordinary meeting on matters already discussed by the society during the preceding three years.

Amid cries of "We want a postal vote," Dr. Ratray said the cost of holding extraordinary general meetings and hiring halls had amounted to more than £1,000.

Dr. Ratray, three times interrupted by prolonged outbursts of shouting, said that he had divided against a postal vote because the average member of the society had "no direct experience and knowledge" of hunting and the alternative methods of control.

Carried

The resolution was carried, to be greeted with cries of "Shame."

The society's rules limiting the right to members to demand a special meeting by raising the minimum number of supporters from 150 to 300 subscribers of £1 or more, was carried.

After further interruptions and further calls to order by the chairman, a member in the gallery got up to say: "The impression I have got is that we have a council ruthlessly suppressing all opposition to its own policy."

SECRETARY RESIGNS

Lt-Col. Charles Earle, D.S.O., secretary of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution since last July, has resigned for reasons of health. He is 47.

YOU WANT CREAM OF THE CAKES? Then Pay Up, Bakers Demand

BRITISH housewives can have Continental baking if they pay Continental prices, said the retiring president of the National Association of Master Bakers, Mr. E. J. Scholes, of Reading, at the association's annual conference at Bournemouth today.

"One often hears of the beautiful shops and fittings abroad, and they certainly are compared with ours in this country," he said.

"I say, give us Continental prices and we will give our public the same here."

"I get people coming into my shop and asking for the same confections they had abroad, but they expect to pay only a third of the price."

Greatest Weapon

Mr. Scholes added: "If they are prepared to pay the proper price, then we can and will produce the goods. We have got to educate the public, and it can be done, providing we maintain top quality."

He told bakers to serve customers themselves and introduce new lines personally.

"That is your greatest asset today and the small man's greatest weapon," he added.

The association's new president, Mr. John C. Murray, of Darlington, told the conference: "Ours is an important craft, and we should never be apologetic in our attitude to it."

"Somehow we have got to bring more pride into our own attitude as bakers, and we must find ways of transmitting some of that pride to our customers."

"Today there is a tremendous demand for good food, and unless we return to the evil days of slumps and unemployment I cannot see that demand diminishing."

"In the years ahead the National Association may have to give more and more attention to helping to create a more favourable image of the baking trade in the eyes of the public.

"Whatever the National Association does, ultimate success must depend upon our own efforts as individual bakers."

More Land

These were the allocation of more land for building beyond the green belts, and more intensive use of land in the central areas of cities.

After speaking of the countryside as being in jeopardy, "the like of which it had never previously known, not even in the worse days of ribbon development," Mr. Heap said that while the total quantity of land remained constant, the pressures upon it mounted day by day.

Mr. Millican announced a home-buying saving scheme for Servicemen. He said it provided for regular savings by members of the Armed Forces, so that when they reached the time of their discharge they would have a capital sum available for house purchase.

"Possible"

"I think a figure of 2000,000,000 should be quite possible of attainment, if we can attract sufficient savings and investments. Because we are certain of a further increase to capital repayments by existing borrowers which become available for re-lending."

Total assets of member societies were £5,100,000,000 against £2,800,000,000 in 1939; the number of share investors and depositors was 4,429,000 and borrowers 3,350,000.

Mr. Millican said that the increase in profits last year 12½ per cent to 15 per cent without any mention of exemption or relief for

Home Buying 'Will Soar'

MR. J. R. MILLICAN, in his chairman's address at today's annual conference of the Building Societies' Association at Harrogate, forecast a soaring demand for home-ownership.

Mr. Millican, general manager and secretary of the Cheltenham and Gloucester Building Society, said: "As the standard of living continues to improve I am quite certain that the demand for home-ownership will continue to increase, and it is the considered view of the council that so far ahead as we dare propose the demand will continue at a high level."

Mr. Millican said they would have to set their sights higher than in 1950, when £22,000,000 was advanced to 387,000 borrowers.

"MANY WILL DIE IN MOON ATTEMPTS"

Mr. Trevor Gardner, a senior official in the U.S. space programme, said in Los Angeles yesterday that the United States could beat Russia to the moon "if we are prepared to pay the price," and he predicted that many men would die in the attempt.

Mr. Gardner, chairman of the 44-Prince Space Study Committee, said the most immediate need was for larger rocket engines, a field in which the United States was "far behind Russia."

which the case was made by Mr. G. J. White, solicitor for Mr. Howard, said that as his client had moved from the defendant, he had been instructed to withdraw the summonses.

Mr. Anthony McCowan, counsel for Cardell, asked the justices to dismiss the summonses. He would ask the court to make an order for substantial costs.

"So far as my client is concerned he utterly denies doing either of the things alleged against him," Mr. McCowan said.

"Particularly does he deny that he sent an eddy pierced through with a needle and a mirror to Mr. Howard, thereby intimating that he laid a curse on him."

Mr. McCowan said that if Mr. Howard was the kind of man who was frightened by such things, he would not understand why he should feel less frightened in Norfolk than in Surrey.

The justices awarded 30 guineas to Mr. Cardell.

DURING the last 25 years more people in Lincoln have been reading more "useful" books.

My authority for saying that is Mr. Francis J. Cooper, who came to the city in 1936 to succeed Mr. A. R. Corns, as Librarian and Director of the Usher Art Gallery. Mr. Cooper is today on the verge of retirement — he returns to his native Suffolk next week — and, in his office, off the reference room at the Public Library, he looked back, for me, over the last quarter of a century.

In those 25 years he has seen the issue of books from the lending library multiply almost threefold. When he arrived there the annual issue was 250,000 volumes; today it stands at about 770,000 and, in spite of television and other distractions of the day, it continues to expand. But, satisfactory though it has been to him to see that development in the library's service to Lincoln people, he has been disappointed that there has, so far, been no special expansion.

Outgrown

For, there is no doubt about it whatever, the Public Library, which was opened in 1913 with money provided by that great philanthropist, Andrew Carnegie, has far outgrown itself. However, Mr. Cooper leaves Lincoln with the satisfaction of knowing that, at long last, plans for a bigger library are being seriously discussed by the Council.

When television began to be so popular, Mr. Cooper felt that the demand for books would drop off, but he was wrong — and he readily, and joyfully, admits it. TV actually whetted the appetite of people for more purposeful reading, and it is in the technical side of the lending library's resources that the growth in the number of books borrowed has been most noticeable.

Branches

While the central library in Freshford-lane has had to struggle along within its original four walls — though a replanning of the lay-out has eased the situation somewhat — the work of the library has been able to expand through the introduction of a children's library and a branch at Braaebridge. And now, after years of planning, another branch for Ermine, in Ravendale-drive, is soon to be an accomplished fact.

De Wint

appointed the city's ambulance officer, and in that capacity, he controlled an enthusiastic corps of 250 men and women, full-time workers and part-time volunteers. "Whenever I go out I meet people who stop to recall incidents of those days," he added.

Back To The Sea

WHAT of the future? How is Mr. Cooper going to spend the years of his retirement? He is going "back home." And for him home means Suffolk and the sea. He and Mrs. Cooper — she is also an East Anglian — are going to make their home at Southwold on the Suffolk coast — that was the point at which the Dambusters from Southampton crossed the English coast on their way to the Ruhr dams in May, 1943 — and they are going to buy a boat, a sailing craft. For Mr. Cooper remembers well the days of his boyhood when he went to sea with his father, skipper of a fishing vessel from Lowestoft. "I must get my hands on sail again," he said.

But art will not be left out of it altogether. Mr. Cooper's father wanted him to be a painter, but "to the old man's disgust" he entered the world of books and paint. Now he is going to mix them — the sea and painting — with an occasional pint with the locals.

knows Pensacola well; he once spent six months in hospital there!

One Of 13

Mr. Cooper was training with the R.A.F. in Canada in 1941 and was one of 13 men selected to spend a period at Pensacola. But whatever was planned for his benefit as a member of the British Royal Air Force, nothing came of it. For almost on arrival in Florida he had to go into hospital with foot trouble, and there he remained for several months as the war passed him by.

Towards the end of that time, of course, he was able to move around and soon knew the town well, and became friendly with a number of Pensacolans. He also learnt to drive and, before he returned to Canada, had obtained a driving licence.

Helping Hand

IT happened in a busy Lincoln street; I saw it — and I am still laughing. A small boy was walking along with an adult, presumably his father. The little fellow was clutching a large, slim, square parcel — equally obviously, a gramophone record. He dropped it, but fortunately, it remained in one piece. However, that did not prevent father from upbraiding the boy, and, for safety's sake, taking charge of the record himself. Half a dozen steps further on father stumbled, fell — and picked the slim package up. It rattled and some small black fragments of a disc fell out!

Patients' Call System For Hospital

NEWARK Hospital's Management Committee, meeting yesterday afternoon, approved the installation of a new patients' call system in the medical wards at Newark General Hospital. The system will be installed within the next few weeks, and similar systems are already in operation in other wards. A dial board in the sister's office connects to lavatories and bathrooms. The Newark League of Friends have given four dozen fruit bowls to Hawthornville Hospital, Newark.

THESE two children are among the six chosen to appear in third selection of Bonnie Babies in the Pic-Echo tomorrow. Each week throughout the summer photographs of entries in the Bonnie Babies Snapshot Competition will appear in the Pic-Echo along with a coupon necessary for entrance. Only pictures taken by AMATEUR photographers are acceptable. A coupon must be firmly attached to the back of each photograph submitted. Space on the coupon is made for name of sender, etc. During the course of the competition 10/6 will be paid for every photograph published. All photographs submitted, whether published earlier or not, will be considered when the time comes for the final judging by a special panel to be appointed. The competition will be divided into three sections, which are—Babies up to one year; from one to three years inclusive, and over three to six years inclusive. An award of £2 2s. will be paid for what is voted best in each group, and an additional further three guineas will be awarded to the overall winner. Thus the top prize will be £5 5s. Twin babies will be judged separately.

Abandoned Dogs Went Wild—Man Told To Pay £47

ALFORD magistrates heard yesterday about six docile dogs which turned into "vicious, wild animals" that roamed part of Lincolnshire after being abandoned by their owner.

Before the court was Anthony George Allsopp (23), of Granville Place, Kingsdown, Bristol, who pleaded not guilty to a summons by the R.S.P.C.A. for being an owner of dogs and abandoning them in circumstances likely to cause them unnecessary suffering. He was disqualified from keeping a dog for five years and fined £25 and ordered to pay £20 costs.

Complaints

He was also fined 7s 6d on each of six summonses for being a nuisance to the public.

Mr. J. C. Bagot, presiding, said that complaints about wild dogs in the vicinity of a wood at Alford had been investigated, and Sergeant E. V. Large found six large cross-bred collies.

He was unable to approach them because they were so wild, and contacted the R.S.P.C.A.

Allsopp told the magistrates that he had always been soft-hearted with animals. He added: "I did not own six vicious animals. I owned six docile dogs, I give you my word I will never own another dog."

De Wint

Collection

THE Usher Gallery, of course, has been another great interest of Mr. Cooper's.

During his time here he has seen the permanent De Wint collection established, a new wing—the Curtis Wing—opened, and more recently, the founding of a Tennyson collection. Among the people who were concerned with the establishment of the new world-famous De Wint collection was Mr. Geoffrey Hainsworth. He showed keen interest in the scheme and gave solid indication of that interest in the shape of several pictures.

War Days

BUT, though his life in Lincoln has been principally among books and pictures, one aspect of his work which Mr. Cooper tells me, will long live in his memory has nothing to do with either.

During the war he was

Florida Days

FROM the columns of print in the Echo one night last week one word stood out for one local man — Pensacola.

That is the town in Florida which is a large United States air base and to it flew, a week ago, two Vulcan jet bombers from the R.A.F. base at Scampton, near Lincoln. Mr. Ronald Caborn, who lives at Billinghay, and who works in the land agents' department of Kesteven County Council at Skeford, telephoned to tell me how much he would like to have flown with them. ## WHEN YOU TIRE AT THE WHEEL HAVE A CUPPA

NO statistics are available as yet to indicate just how important eye strain is as a contributory factor in causing traffic accidents. Until this can be assessed accurately, the new Eye Care Information Bureau simply stress that eyes exposed to unusual strain will be less efficient, resulting in poorer vision.

Eye strain can be caused by over-long periods at the wheel, by exposure to draughts, dust or oil fumes, or simply by watching a badly adjusted television set all evening before driving home. Fog and the glare of oncoming headlights are extra worries.

It Works Wonders

Never drive too long without a break. Even a brief stop—long enough to drink a cup of tea—will work wonders for tired eyes. While you stop, soothe your eyes with a couple of eye drops. Rally drivers swear by them.

If you have need of spectacles, wear them. If you are in doubt as to the standard of your eyesight, go to the doctor or optician for a check-up.

Remember, if you cannot see properly, you are a danger to others as well as to yourself.

Those TEENAGE WIVES

A GIRL soon to be married asked me this week, "I'll still be only 18, but can I really still claim to be a teenager?" She reminded me that I seldom write for teenage wives in this column, and I could tell she was a little afraid that marriage might

OF course a girl of 18 or 19 is still in her teens in the physical sense, but let's face it, she cannot be looked upon as a "teenager" in the way this over-worked word has come to be regarded. She is still young and gay, but that wedding ring moves her apart from her contemporaries whose lives revolve around parents and home, a job, boy friends, pretty clothes and a good time.

When a girl's life becomes centred around just one special man, and a home of her own, and perhaps a baby, she becomes a more responsible person and some of the things she revelled in the year before, seem a bit childish now. This is natural enough.

If this is happening to you, have no regrets if old friends do not seem to fit into the new pattern. Invite other young marrieds around.

There's even more fun in talking about new colour schemes, new gardens, and "do-it-yourself." And if you should be on the other side of Wipe off, and then wash without fear of leaving tell-tale marks.

Q. When is a blouse or a dress too daring for a nice girl?

A. When cleavage shows. Let's be frank. Most girls dress to look attractive to boys. A group of very nice boys talked to me on this delicate point a day or two ago, and started me by saying that girls should not low cut tops and blouses for the boys.

If in doubt from now on, insert a little dart to hitch up the front over the "danger line"—and the nice boys, it seems, will then dare to give you a second look!

Your Husband Should Look Athletic...

IF you've ever wondered why your teenage son or your adventurous and clothes-conscious young husband looks slightly odd in those Italian-style suits he's been buying, designer Hardy Amies has the answer.

He says: "There are certain aspects of Continental clothes which make Englishmen look rather 'pansy', and I don't think they are really suitable to the Englishman or the Anglo-Saxon.

"The Englishman should strive for a virile look. Virility in men's clothing is something which makes a man look athletic—broad shoulders and thin hips.

"The shorter Italian jacket is not very slim-making over the hips and therefore is not suitable for Englishmen."

Hardy Amies, hitherto best known as a designer of women's clothes, is to design a range of suits for a well-known firm of multiple tailors.

Suits designed by him will be available for men to order in the autumn, and will cost between £16 10s. and £26s. 5s.

Solved

PEOPLE working in the service department of a famous English firm of clock and watch makers have been mystified by the number of women's gold-plated watches they have received for service with the glass and case badly pitted.

Now, after exhaustive tests in their laboratories, they have found the answer — hair lacquer.

Brilliantly coloured, hot checked "blacket" cloth makes this shower-proof jacket with warm fur fabric lining. It is called Kasto and costs £7 7s. (Charles Mackintosh and Co., Ltd.).

BEWARE OF NERVOUS INDIGESTION

When your stomach is out of order, be quite sure of the cause before you start taking remedies. Work and worry often cause a lot of nervous indigestion and the only way to cod this is to rebuild and restore your nerves.

Unless your diet contains enough Vitamin B your nervous system cannot stand the strain. Your digestion will suffer; you will become headachy, grouchy, irritable, sleep badly, and show all the signs of a nervous collapse.

Make sure you get enough Vitamin B. Take Phillips Tonic Yeast tablets with your meals. They're just pure Brewer's Yeast, the richest natural source of the B Vitamins in concentrated form.

Start taking Phillips Tonic Yeast today! You will be amazed at the difference it makes. But be sure to ask for "Phillips", the Yeast without drugs. At all chemists, 1/3.

For June

ROSES are the flowers for June. Although we cannot be as lavish as the Romans, who slept on beds and pillows of rose petals, we can take care of those we do come by.

Never thrust them into the nearest vase hastily filled with cold water. Choose a vase which suits the flowers and fill it with WARM water. Freshly-cut flower stems absorb warm water more rapidly than cold, and this will prolong the active life of the blooms.

The water should be quite warm to the hand, but not hot enough to be uncomfortable. It can then slowly cool to room temperature at its own rate.

If the head of a rose softens and droops, cut off three or more inches of the stem where the cells have been blocked, condition it in warm water, and replace it in the arrangement. Or, you can float the rose head in a crystal glass, a sea shell, or a small flat bowl as an arrangement on its own.

Wipe off, and then wash without fear of leaving it stale marks.

"MY son of five simply hates going to the barber's. He cries at the electric clippers and the barber gets very annoyed, which makes matters worse. I feel very embarrassed and wonder if you have any hints on overcoming this fear.—M.D."

A sympathetic and understanding barber would quickly put your little boy at ease. Change to another barber and ask him to use hand clippers on your son's hair until his fears are allayed. Small boys always behave much better with Father on these occasions.

Can't you arrange for your husband to take your boy when he has his own hair cut? Watching Dad will gradually make him want to have exactly the same treatment. Barbers are used to handling frightened little customers, but of course they prefer these problem clients to attend when business is slack — so try to arrange visits early in the week if possible.

"IS it any cheaper to make nappies at home do you think? And could one make both sorts, gauze and towelling?—Expectant."

It is quite a lot cheaper to machine towelling into squares. Be sure to buy terry towelling 36 inches wide. You should save about 10s a dozen. I see no reason why you should not machine gauze squares together too, and the saving here should be even greater.

CHURCH DESIGN ULTRA-MODERN

Do-It-Yourself Plan Has Commonsense As

The Keynote

WORK on a church of a revolutionary design, hitherto unknown in Lincolnshire, is to begin on a Lincoln housing estate in the autumn.

It will be the first permanent Church of St. John, on the Ermine Estate, and some of the non-skilled work will be done by parishioners on a do-it-yourself basis.

Why was this ultra-modern design preferred to something more traditional? The Vicar, the Rev. John Hodgkinson, supplies the answer in one word—commonsense.

"The design we have decided upon is strictly functional," he pointed out to the Echo. "Over the past three years the Parochial Church Council have discussed many plans and variations of plans.

"The majority of our churches are either Gothic or 19th century pseudo-Gothic, designed for the worship of a medieval society.

Industrial Age

"Today, however, we are in a situation where our worship and, therefore, our church buildings need to speak of God's power and presence in the midst of this industrial society and age."

Members of St. John's—at present two dual-purpose churches on east and west Ermine—started the project by asking a question. It was this: "What is a church for? What are the most important occasions in its use?"

To make sure they got the right answer they decided that thought on the subject must come from as wide a field as possible. So a questionnaire was sent round the parish.

Unanimous

"There was unanimous agreement that the prime purpose of a church is to house the people of God when they gather to celebrate Holy Communion," explained Mr. Hodgkinson.

"The altar has, therefore, been placed so that the people can gather round more conveniently than in the long, thin church, and there are no choir stalls or screen separating the nave and the sanctuary.

"THE ALTAR IS POSITIONED SO THAT THE PRIEST MAY CELEBRATE FACING THE PEOPLE.

"The main block of seating is sloped to allow good vision for everyone. The lowest point is near the font, and it is here, with the symbolism of the step of descent, that the font is positioned.

Striking Roof

artist has been consulted about this.

Negotiations are in hand for the purchase of a large quantity of stone from Blankney Hall, which is being demolished. If these are successful, this lovely weathered stone will be used for the sanctuary wall, the wall by the main entrance, and the circular wall surrounding the church buildings.

Not Enough Money

What of the cost? At the moment there is not enough money to complete the whole project, but tenders are being sought for the construction of the shell of the church and it is hoped that a start on this will be made in September.

The vestry and the Lady Chapel may be built by parishioners themselves.

"The need is so urgent that, if necessary, we are prepared to get up the shell as a first instalment and worship on bare concrete," declared the young Vicar.

"We expect generous support from a wide field, but it is obvious that we must be prepared to do a considerable amount of the construction ourselves.

"We should, of course, use only skilled men for skilled work, but there are many of us prepared to work as labourers.

Total — £25,000

"The total cost will be at least £25,000, of which we can see about £17,000 at the moment. Offers of help, no matter how small, would be much appreciated."

"The new church will stand at the junction of Sudbrooke-drive and Loughton-way, on the Ermine Estate. St. John's Vicarage and the house for the curate, the Rev. W. J. T. Brockie, have already been built adjoining the site.

The people of the Ermine housing estate, in the Stewardship Campaign held some time ago, proved that not only do they want their church, but that they are prepared to support it financially and otherwise. So far they have had to be content with the two dual-purpose buildings — "a church when services are held, then down with the screens and on with the dance."

Added Mr. Hodgkinson: "The people on the housing estate

This is revealed by the Prime Minister, Mr. Harold Macmillan in his circulated report of the Roper Committee's findings.

His report stated that the committee found that no criticism could be made of Houghton's appointment in 1951 as clerk to the Naval Attaché in Warsaw.

There could also be no criticism of want of action by the Naval Attaché or the Admiralty in the events leading to his recall to London on account of his drinking habits and no legitimate criticism could be made of Houghton's subsequent appointment in 1952 to a post in the Underwater Detection Establishment, Portland.

"Regrettable"

But the report goes on: "It is regrettable that the authorities at Portland were not informed about the reason for Houghton's recall from Warsaw.

"In 1954 an allegation was made to a junior official, Houghton's immediate superior, that Houghton was taking secret papers out of the establishment.

"This official did not report the matter or take any other steps to reveal it, apart from advising his informant to see the Security Officer or the police and he is very much to blame for his inaction."

"Misleading"

The report says that in 1956 Houghton was twice brought to the notice of the authorities in the establishment as a probable security risk. "Insufficient investigations were made and a report, which was both incomplete and misleading

Woman Praised In Theft Case

REFERENCE was made at Market Rasen Court to an unnamed Tealby woman who assisted in the capture of a Grimsby man who later admitted stealing a quantity of lead from the dilapidated Tealby mansion, Bayons Manor. "Without her help," said Inspector T. Evison, "it is most unlikely that this man would have been caught."

What happened, said the inspector, was that a man asked in Tealby to be directed to Bayons Manor in what a woman regarded as suspicious circumstances. She telephoned the police.

Bramwell Thomas Hulley (25), unemployed, of Conyngmore-road, Grimsby, pleaded guilty to stealing 1cwt. 3qr. 7lb. of lead from Bayons Manor, the property of Mr. R. W. Drake, the owner. Hulley was conditionally discharged for 12 months and was ordered to pay 13s costs.

Inspector T. Evison said that, acting on information given to him, P. S. Elvin, of Tealby, kept watch on a car near the main entrance to Bayons Manor. He saw a man and a woman going to and from the car. Later he stopped the car in Tealby village and saw Hulley inside, accompanied by his wife. Two small children were in the rear.

Car Was Searched

The constable searched the car and found a quantity of lead which was covered over by matting. Questioned about the lead, Hulley was said to have told the constable: "I took it. I am out of work and desperate for money. Is there any way I can put it right?"

In a formal statement later, Hulley said he came out from Grimsby to get logs for firewood. He wanted some money because he was out of work and was also trying to pay off a mortgage. According to the statement, he saw lead lying on the ground at Bayons Manor and, against the wishes of his wife, he decided to bring it away.

In court, Hulley said he was very sorry for what had occurred. He reiterated that he had had no thought of stealing lead but had been out for firewood. "When I saw the lead," he said, "I was tempted but took it."

Lost His Temper As Man Hooted

A BOSTON man who lost his temper when the driver of a pick-up truck hooted at him, appeared before Boston magistrates yesterday, and pleaded guilty to wilfully committing £5 worth of damage to a truck, the property of Priscilla May Fox, on April 22.

He was John Thomas Cater (21), of Jubilee-avenue, Boston. He was fined £3 and ordered to pay £5 compensation.

Inspector R. C. Holmes said that John Malcolm Fox, a student, of Red Gables, West End Road, Wyberton, was driving towards the Five Lamps from Bargate, just after 11 p.m., when a group of youths got in the way of the truck.

He sounded the hooter and the youths came towards him, and started shouting and banging on the side of the vehicle.

He started to get out and Cater pulled the door and wrenched it back, damaging the offside wing.

Apologised

P.C. Swinn, said the inspector, would have said that he spoke to Cater, who said: "He nearly ran over my mates just now." He later said: "I am sorry if I damaged the vehicle, but I lost my temper." He offered to pay for the damage.

In court he apologised for what had happened.

A driver's mate employed by Beston Corporation, Cater was said to have two previous convictions—in 1958 for fighting in the street, and last year for conduct likely to bring dishonour to the peace.

The chairman, Mrs. J. K. Smith, told him: "Your temper rather got the better of you, but it is wise to learn to keep your temper under control."

He offered to pay the fine within a fortnight.

"The sacrament of Holy Baptism can, therefore, take place when the most people come together, and in a position where they can all participate."

One of the most striking features of the proposed building is the roof—a concrete shell, extremely modern and graceful in appearance. It spans the area without internal pillars.

Added Mr. Hodgkinson: "The people on the housing estate deserve a permanent church of their own, and the area is so vast that it is just not possible to delay the project any longer even though we have not got all the money we need."

"AFTER FIVE YEARS WE CANNOT AFFORD TO WAIT ANY LONGER."

"Regrettable" But the report goes on: "It is regrettable that the authorities at Portland were not informed about the reason for Houghton's recall from Warsaw."

"In 1954 an allegation was made to a junior official, Houghton's immediate superior, that Houghton was taking secret papers out of the establishment."

"This official did not report the matter or take any other steps to report to his superiors from advising his informant to see the security officer or the police and he is very much to blame for his inaction."

"Misleading"

The report says that in 1956 Houghton was twice brought to the notice of the authorities in the establishment as a probable security risk. "Insufficient investigations were made and a report, which was both incomplete and misleading, was submitted to the Admiralty."

"The security officer at the establishment is gravely to blame for the casual way in which he dealt with this matter. Even so the captain of the establishment should personally have ensured that proper inquiries were conducted and that the matter was fully reported to the Admiralty."

The evidence to the committee disclosed a general want of "security mindedness" in the establishment and responsibility must rest with the captain.

The committee found that the Admiralty and the security service could not escape criticism for failing to press the matter to a positive conclusion.

"Admiralty to Blame"

The committee considered that, apart altogether from the 1956 incidents, the Admiralty are to blame for the manner in which they discharged their responsibilities for security, particularly at Portland.

But they thought no criticism could be made of Miss Gee's appointment to and subsequent retention at the establishment.

Lonsdale and the Krogers were in possession of genuine Commonwealth passports. There were no grounds for supposing that these passports were fraudulently obtained. No blame attached to the immigration authorities.

Great Skill

There was subsequently no failure of liaison between the security service and the security authorities in the U.S. or any other country.

"The committee consider that professional skill of a high order was shown in establishing the necessary evidence against Lonsdale and the Krogers once a 'lead' had been received."

WHY AM I HERE HE ASKS COURT

WHEN Frank Brian Mundy, of Dodington-road, Lincoln, appeared at Lincoln County Court yesterday, he said he had no idea why he was there. "I got a summons so I just came along," he said.

Mr. Adkinson, for the complainant, G. Montague, Finance Ltd., London, told him that he had signed a document agreeing to pay £57 for a car in connection with a deal he had made.

Mundy said: "I went along with my brother-in-law and helped him get a car once. I think I signed a paper then. I've had many dealings with car firms but I think I paid them all."

The case was adjourned for a month to allow Mundy to investigate the matter.

out from Grimby to get logs for firewood. He wanted some money because he was out of work and was also trying to pay off a mortgage. According to the statement, he saw lead lying on the ground at Bayons Manor and, against the wishes of his wife, he decided to bring it away.

In court, Hulley said he was very sorry for what had occurred. He reiterated that he had had no thought of stealing lead but had been out for firewood. "When I saw the lead," he said, "I was tempted and took it."

VETERAN and VINTAGE VEHICLE RALLY

Skellingthorpe Aerodrome

SATURDAY, 17th JUNE

AN hour-long cavalcade of veteran and vintage vehicles, including buses, lorries,
beautifully-restored cars,
traction engines, horse-drawn coaches, and cycles, will be one of the highlights of the second vintage and veteran vehicle rally to be held on Skellingthorpe airfield, near Lincoln, on Saturday.

The event — inaugurated
last year — has been greatly extended to provide even more attractions.
Vehicles for the show will be coming from many parts of the country.

Two Old Cars

Two of the most interesting vehicles in the rally are owned by Lincolnshire old car enthusiasts.

They are a Pick car, of 1898, made in Stamford, and owned by Mr. Alfred Steeper, of Broughton, near Brigg, the only remaining model of its kind, and "Old No. 1," a famous racing Bentley.

It is owned by Mr. J. Ward, of The Grange, Carrington, near Boston, and won the Le Mans races of 1929 and 1930, and the 500-mile race of 1931.

It has been restored during the winter and will be in immaculate condition when it appears on Saturday.

Film Star Opener

The eight and a half hour rally will be opened by film star June Thorburn, the 29-years-old actress called "Miss Sweetness-Itself," to a fanfare of trumpets, and in the company of civic heads.

The honorary secretary of the organising committee,
Mr. Frank Kidd, said today:
"We feel that this event is unique in the country.
Nowhere else is so much variety offered in one event."

The organising committee has been working for nearly a year on the project.

In addition to the parade of the old vehicles, which will also be on display, there will be musical chairs by traction engines, a two-part gymkhana, sheepdog trials, a football match between the Hykeham Ladies and the City Police, demonstrations by scooter enthusiasts, fire-fighting displays and displays by Her Majesty's Forces.

One part of the airfield which enthusiasts have declared to be "ideal" will be used for go-karting.

Boating Fans Catered For

In the many big marquees
there will be various exhibitions, including model railways, sideshows, and even film shows.

Boating fans will be catered for by special displays, including various types of boats.

The rally will embrace transport from horses to rockets for Lincoln Astronomical Society's marquee will include rockets and satellite models.

MISS JUNE THORBURN

One lent especially by the United States Information Service, is of the Explorer
VI "paddle-wheel" satellite, launched from Cape Cana-verral from a Thor-Able III rocket on August 7, 1959.

June's Programme

For the many people who will want to see Miss June Thorburn arrive in Lincoln and travel in a beautifully prepared stage coach to the showground, here is the programme and the route:—

11.00 a.m.: Miss Thorburn and her party arrive at the Central Station from London and are received by the
A.B.C. district manager. At the same time the civic party, including the Mayor and Mayoress, Councillor and Mrs. W. E. Herbert,
and the City Sheriff, Mr.
Bernard Clark, and Mrs.
Clark, arrive at the Grand Hotel, to receive Miss Thorburn and her party.

Procession Times

1.00 p.m.: The procession vehicles, including mounted vehicles and mounted cavalry, arrives at the Central Station.

1.30 p.m.: The procession
leaves station forecourt via
St. Mary's street.

2.00 p.m.: Procession halts
at The Plough Hotel, opposite the Newark-road Garage, for refreshment.

2.15 p.m.: Procession leaves
The Plough.

2.45 p.m.: Procession
arrives at the showground.

In the procession and at the showground, the film star will be accompanied by her husband, Mr. Morten Smith-Peterson, an active member of the Norwegian resistance movement during the war.

Care of Elderly

The City of Lincoln Association for the Care of the Elderly, for which the Rally is being held, was formed in January, 1958, with the main object of helping elderly people who live in their own homes.

The association, which is non-political, is anxious and willing to help all elderly people, and some of the ways in which this is being by the association, or its constituent members are:

Handyman Corps, Schoolgirl
Service, hospital transport, meals-on-wheels, and outings for the handicapped elderly.

Hall To Cost £20,000

The association is to erect a hall for the elderly in St.
Marks, which will cost about £20,000, and the proceeds of this rally will be used for this purpose.

The hall will be built in three stages as and when the money is available. The first phase is the erection of a kitchen to cook about 200 meals per day for the meals-on-wheels (thus enlarging the scheme considerably).

The second phase will be the completion of the ground floor accommodation, which will be for the use of the elderly, and the third phase will be the erection of two upper storeys.

The association is to erect a hall for the elderly in St. Marks, which will cost about £20,000, and the proceeds of this rally will be used for this purpose.

The hall will be built in three stages as and when the money is available. The first phase is the erection of a kitchen to cook about 200 meals per day for the meals-on-wheels (thus enlarging the scheme considerably).

The second phase will be the completion of the ground floor accommodation, which will be for the use of the elderly, and the third phase will be the erection of two upper storeys.

THIEVES GIVE EVIDENCE AT COURT

TWO convicted thieves gave evidence at a special Kesteven Juvenile Court in Lincoln yesterday when a 16-years-old Lincoln machinist was put on probation for three years.

The boy denied being jointly concerned with the other two — both of whom were dealt with at Lindsey Quarter Sessions last month — in stealing a delivery basket and £19 7s. 6d. worth of goods from the mobile shop of Mr. G. E. Clarke, at North Hykeham.

Mr. Clarke was attending a meeting of North Hykeham Parish Council at the time the shop, which was parked on the Memorial Field at North Hykeham, was entered.

The wife of one of the witnesses gave evidence against the boy on subpoena.

Another summons against the boy, alleging that he received a .200 shotgun knowing it to have been stolen, was dismissed.

Mr. W. K. Wood, prosecuting, said the gun was stolen in January and had not been seen since. When questioned by police, the boy replied: "I've not to say."

The boy was said to have three previous convictions. He was put on probation for three years, and was ordered to pay £2 13s. costs.

Took Own Life

A DOCTOR called to examine a patient found on the railway line between Lincoln and Chesterfield on Monday afternoon, told the jury at a Newark inquest yesterday that he got the impression she had jumped from a bridge on to the railway.

The jury returned a verdict of suicide while the balance of her mind was disturbed on Miss Edith Alice Hardy (41), of The Moor, Thorney, who was killed by a goods train.

Half-Mile Walk To Graves Likely At New Cemetery

THE proposed new burial ground for the parish of Bracebridge Heath would involve mourners in an 800 yards walk through the grounds of St. John's Hospital, members of Bracebridge Heath Parish Council heard last night.

Chairman of the council, Mr. H. F. Steward, said this was because hearses and cars at funerals would have to stop and turn at the Slenford-road gate — and the coffins be wheeled on biers from there.

The council heard a report from their representatives who met representatives of No. 2 Hospital Management Committee last month to discuss the proposal.

The report revealed that the former cemetery chapel at the hospital would not be available, as it was to be converted into a Roman Catholic chapel for the use of staff and patients.

Conditions

The hospital authorities were prepared to allow the parish council to use a parcel of land to the east of the old hospital cemetery, subject to certain conditions.

These are that the parish council construct a footpath where necessary, and make a contribution — suggested at £150 per annum — towards the cost of maintenance of the grounds through which the footpath will pass.

The hospital authorities will in turn clear the site of all rubbish deposited there. It was stated that the product of a 1d rate would be about £115.

Agreed

It was agreed to accept the terms subject to planning permission being received.

Negotiations are to be begun with the Church Commissioners for the use of the land.

LOCKED OUT

MEMBERS of Bracebridge Heath Parish Council arriving at the Methodist Schoolroom last night for the first meeting of the new council, found the place locked, and were unable to gain entry. The church hall of St. John's, almost opposite, was available, and the meeting was able to go on as planned.

LINCS MAN ELECTED PRESIDENT

The chief metallurgist at Appleby-Frodingham steel-works, Dr. Leslie Reeve, has been elected president of Lincolnshire Iron and Steel Institute.

Author of several technical papers on important experiments in the metallurgical field, Dr. Reeve holds the gold medal of the Iron and Steel Institute. He has been with Appleby-Frodingham since 1934.

EVACUATED

Forty-eight male patients were evacuated from Muckamore Abbey Hospital, near Antrim, late last night, when fire swept the roof of their sleeping quarters.

BANNED MARCHERS RETURN

THE "bag the bomb" marchers who were refused entry into France yesterday returned to Southampton today in the steamer Normandie.

There were 26 of them—one fewer than when they sailed on Monday night hoping to walk to Moscow.

During the hold-up at Le Havre five of the group—three men and two girls—swam ashore and one, Bib Kingsley (20), from New Hampshire, succeeded in evading police on the quayside.

He got safely ashore and was due to start walking to Paris today with French pacifists.

Bench Delay Case: Airman Must Attend

AFTER announcing fines amounting to £7 on an 18-years-old airman, Lincoln magistrates had second thoughts yesterday—and adjourned the case for seven days.

The magistrates had intimated that they were considering disqualification in the case, and had been told by their clerk that they could not disqualify a defendant in his absence.

They ordered L.A.C. Kenneth Burrows Trick, of R.A.F. Station, Scampton, to appear next week in answer to two summonses.

Trick had pleaded guilty by letter to driving a motor cycle in Newport and exceeding the 30 m.p.h. speed limit, and to failing to display "L" plates when the holder of a provisional licence.

POSSESSION ORDER SUSPENDED

At Newark County Court, Judge A. J. Hunt gave consent for an order for possession of 23 Millgate, Newark, against Albert Gilbert, of that address, for Mrs. Olga Sarah Wright, of Old Castle, Millgate, Newark. The order was suspended until September 29 on payment of a rent of 18s a week.

Increase In Bread: Member's Query

MR. Christopher Soames, Minister of Agriculture, answered questions about the increase in the price of bread put to him in the Commons by Mr. Geoffrey de Freitas (Lab. Lincoln).

Mr. de Freitas had asked him if he was aware that the price of a loaf of bread had been increased three times in just over a year.

Had there been any corresponding increase in the quality or size of the loaf?

In a written reply, Mr. Soames said he was aware of the increases.

There had been no change in the prescribed weight of the standard loaf, and he did not think it would be appropriate for him, he said, to give an opinion about quality—this was so much a matter of individual taste.

THE housewife in the limited kitchen quarters of a flatlet will find the space-saving cabinet illustrated most convenient. It offers two enclosed cupboards, shelf space and the hinged flap provides a table for cooking, etc. Several utensils may be stored inside this flap when it is not in use. From the constructional point of view, it is just the piece of work for an amateur. From a hardwood section measuring 8½ ins. by 1½ in., cut two sides 4ft. 2½ ins. long; three shelves 2ft. 10½ ins. long; top 3ft. 1½ in. long; and two sides of cupboards 1ft. 6½ ins. long. A stronger job will result by nailing thin square fillets across the sides on which the three shelves may rest. The bottom shelf is cut down to 8½ ins. wide, and the shelves are nailed between the sides, the joints being glued.

The top is nailed down to the ends of the sides, and the sides of the cupboards are fitted between the top and the shelf, while a short shelf could be fitted as shown. The work should be trued up from corner to corner, and a thin plywood back nailed on. It will be economical to use two panels of 36 ins. by 36 ins. plywood and join them behind the second shelf from the bottom, the piece left over being used for the hinged flap. Ready made doors, hinged at the sides, and fitted with knobs and ball-catches, should be used for the cupboards. The edges of the top could be neatly finished with moulding. The hinged flap is made with a plywood panel 2ft. 10½ ins. long by 1ft. 6½ ins. wide, edged with facing rails 2 ins. wide by ½ in. thick. The end rails should run from edge to edge, the top and bottom ones are placed between, and a middle one is also fitted. Strong hinges should be used to hinge the flap to the bottom shelf. A knob and ball-catch are provided, and the flap may be held when open with a couple of light chains. Small slips could be nailed along the open shelves about 1½ ins. from the back edges to enable plates to be kept in safety, and light shelves could be fitted inside the cupboards as desired.

THEATRE ROYAL

SOMEWHERE, in "A Shred of Evidence" at the THEATRE ROYAL last night there just had to be someone who was just a normal person in, for him at least, ordinary circumstances. The balance was necessary to offset the highly emotional situations occupied by every other member of the cast. Michael Shannon, as a police inspector making a "routine" investigation provided it, with an assurance it was a privilege to see. The general situation was one where the possibility of manslaughter through drunken driving, and direct blackmail existed in a household trying to celebrate a double happiness.

He made an order for possession of the house owned by Mrs. Helen Mary Dillon Ricketts, of Nairobi, Africa, and occupied by Neville James Carlisle and his wife. Judge Flint told Mrs. Carlisle that she and her husband were trespassers in the house, because they had never been given possession. He gave judgment for the payment of £2 6s. 9d.—"a fair charge for their occupation of the premises"—and £5 10s. costs.

No Such Type As Average Patient Says Accountant

THERE was a great need for high level research in the hospital service into such matters as costing, allocation of expenditure and such non-financial subjects as assessments of the need for hospital beds and out-patient facilities, Mr. A. L. A. West, president of the Institute of Municipal Treasurers and Accountants, said at the Institute's annual conference at Blackpool today.

The apportionment of the total money available between the various authorities, based on the cost of the current level of service, was open to criticism on the grounds that it did not achieve equality.

"But it is difficult to suggest an alternative based for instance on the results of costing, as the services connected with ward treatment vary so widely," said Mr. West, treasurer of the North West Metropolitan Hospital Board.

Hospitals were not constructed on the same principles, some wards requiring higher nursing ratios than others. The types of operations carried out and the times taken varied according to the techniques of consultant surgeons. The patients, too, differed in their requirements — "there is no such person as the average patient," he said. "If part of the authorisation, capital or revenue, for one year is not taken up, it cannot be carried forward as an unspent balance to the next year, and an overspending cannot be carried forward."

It had been agreed that there should be a block grant system covering a five year period similar to that applying to universities. But, it was doubtful whether any Government would be prepared to commit itself and its successors to expenditure of £2,500,000,000 without an annual review.

Those Unspent Balances

"An alternative suggestion is that if authorities were allowed to carry forward unspent balances, economies would result from the avoidance of the tendency for hurried spending in the last months of the financial year. There are powerful arguments against this as far as revenue account is concerned, but a case can be made out for the carry over of capital balances — the control of capital finance within one year is one of the most difficult problems facing regional boards and boards of governors."

On the future of the service, Mr. West stressed the need for ensuring, through adequate training schemes, that the financial administrator was a professional accountant. There was need for a more free interchange of financial officers between all types of public authority, he said.

NO MARIA BUENO AT WIMBLEDON?

Maria Bueno (Brazil) is unlikely to defend her Wimbledon title, the captain of the Brazilian team, Paulo da Silva Costa, said yesterday. She has remained in Paris since she developed jaundice last month.

Witham Never Better

The Witham has never looked better. Weed cutting has been going on rapidly during the past few days and most of these will have floated downstream before the season opens. The river shows every sign of an abundance of fish.

Some reservations have to be made when considering the South Forty Foot which proved so disappointing for most of last season.

It certainly looks to be in great condition and local experts anticipate that it will fish well. The week-end's experiences will be eagerly awaited by thousands of anglers.

Match arrangements for the Hobbie, Kelsey, Cowbridge, Richardson's and any of the West Fen Drains will continue to be made by Boston A.A. and clubs wishing to fish any of these waters must contact the secretary, Mr. D. McGuire of 4 Tool-lane, Boston.

Match bookings are very heavy, showing an increase on last year, but there is still room for quite a number of clubs.

Details will be announced each week of the sections reserved for pleasure anglers.

Lincs Make A Good Start

BATTING first on a wicket which looked full of runs, Shropshire made a disastrous start against the bowling of G. Drakes and Cherry-Downes in the Minor Counties match at Bridgnorth today. With their score only one (a no ball) Cherry-Downes had Jones out for a duck.

Shropshire's second wicket fell at 12 and their third wicket at 16, both batsmen being the victims of Drakes.

Arthur Rowley, the Shrewsbury Town player-manager, hit a couple of fours before having his stumps shattered by Cherry-Downes.

Arch, who opened the innings, was batting steadily, and when he was joined by F. H. Apperley, the Shropshire captain, reviewed the home county's bagging fortunes with a fine stand, putting on 81 runs before being separated. Arch was bowled by Barry Enderby for 31.

Great Fire

Shortly after lunch, F. H. Apperley was out, bowled by Drakes.

Drakes, although no-batted seven times, was bowling with great fire and soon had other bowlers out.

Bowling with clever variations of flight and spin, the wily Lawrence claimed the wicket of J. H. Apperley when he had scored 17.

High Hat Is Out Of Gold Cup

SIR WINSTON CHURCHILL, who interrupted his holiday in the south of France so that he could go to Ascot tomorrow, will not have a runner in the main race, the Ascot Gold Cup.

His entry, High Hat, was taken out at the final declaration this morning. Trainer Walter Nightingall said: "I received instructions to take the horse out. Sir Winston has other runners at the meeting."

The absence of High Hat will be a disappointment to racegoers, but with the French competition so strong, Sir Winston was probably bowing to the inevitable.

Ex-Walker Cup Player Returns

RONNIE WHITE (Royal Birkenhead) returns to competitive golf after an absence of five years when he plays in the English Open amateur stroke play championship for the Dea-baron Trophy at Royal Liverpool on June 29-July 1.

White was one of the greatest amateurs of post war years and in Walker Cup matches for Britain against the United States won six games, halved one and lost only three.

Two of these defeats were in his last match at St. Andrews in 1955 just before he dropped out of competitive golf to concentrate on establishing himself as a solicitor.

The stroke play championship is being utilised as the final Walker Cup trial — the match against America takes place later this year — and if he does well White could play himself into the team.

NO REPLACEMENT FOR BENAUD

Mr. Sid Webb, the Australian touring team manager, said today that they had not considered asking for another spin bowler to join the party in view of Richie Benaud's continued shoulder trouble. The Australian captain missed today's game against Leicestershire.

Two Solicitors Will Decide

LINCOLN magistrates adjourned a case against 35-years-old Harold True, of Owanby Cliff, Normanby-by-Spital — to enable two solicitors to decide which of them should represent him.

True is charged with indecent exposure with intent to insult two 16-years-old school-girls.

When the case was called, Mr. W. L. M. Kitchen intimated that he had been engaged by True on Saturday to represent him, and would have been prepared to have gone on with the hearing today.

But, he said, the man's union had in the meantime instructed Mr. H. S. Jackson to act on True's behalf, and Mr. Jackson had not had time to prepare the case.

The case was adjourned until June 29 after Detective Inspector A. Crane, prosecuting, had said that the two girls were passing their school certificate examinations this week and next week.

Asked how long the case was likely to take, Mr. Kitchen replied: "If I'm in it, it will be fought and could take a long time."

bowler, on whom England rely so much, must have more support. Dexter, the third pace bowler in the side, sent down only five overs in Australia's total of 516 for nine, presumably because it was not thought wise to risk his suspect knee. That turned out to be a justifiable precaution in view of his match-saving 180, but it threw a heavy load on Statham and Trueman, who were bil for more runs than ever before in a Test.

Bowler Needed

Such treatment to their two top line bowlers ought to be avoided if possible. A third fast bowler will almost certainly be needed for Lord's, probably in place of one of the off spinners, Illingworth and Allen.

Barry Knight, of Essex, one of the original 12 chosen for the first Test, might get his chance, or the selectors could even recall his county captain, Trevor Bailey.

If one off spinner is retained it could be Illingworth, because of his better batting, but if someone quite different is needed, then Lock with his slow left arm deliveries might come into the reckoning.

Peter May, if fit, will certainly return to strengthen the batting, and the man to go might well be Mike Smith. Good player though he is, Smith is such an uncertain starter that there is always the risk with him.

Serious Plight

Australia have a similar difficulty, how to find a bowling side to dismiss England twice. There is not a great deal they can do to improve the attack, unless Gaunt or McKenzie come along and show something out of the ordinary. Should Benaud continue to experience trouble with his shoulder, then Australia would be in a serious plight. In any case they will almost certainly have to lean on their capable batsmen to run up more massive totals.

As most people believed from the first, the series looks like being a war of attrition, with crowds settling down as they did in former days to watch plenty of runs being made.

Shock For Carr In "Amateur"

CHARLIE GREEN, a 35-years-old week-end golfer, from Dumbarion only just failed to pull off the shock of the golfing season in the British amateur championship at Turnberry, Ayrshire, today. He took the holder, Iain Carr (Sutton) attempting to win the title for the fourth time, to the 21st green before admitting defeat.

At the 18th with the two players all square, Green just shaved the hole with a 19 foot putt which would have won him the match.

At the 21st, after Green had played his second on to the edge of the green, Carr produced a match-winning iron shot seven feet from the pin and downed the putt for a winning birdie three.
